

RESTRICTED FONTS

Get fonts

Restricted Fonts may be included with Adobe software products for the exclusive use of the software itself – such as for menu display, interfaces, or document processing. Such fonts are not licensed for use in an end user’s own documents.

Many of these fonts are also available with a perpetual desktop license purchase or via Typekit font sync. If you have a separate End User License Agreement (EULA) for a font which allows you to use it in desktop software, you may use it according to the terms of your EULA. You should always read your EULA carefully to understand what use is allowed.

Otherwise, if the Adobe Product EULA limits your use of certain fonts to the operation of the Adobe Software only, the following list identifies the fonts governed by those limiting EULA terms.
